political advisers the nomination of Mayor Low under existing conditions will mean an easy Tammany victory.

"The German vote," said Mr. Murphy to-day, "will so on the side that stands for personal liberty. The fusion administration has shown that it is not the personal-liberty administration. Pledges were made before the last election by the Mayor and others, and those pledges have not been

The recommendation by the Fusion conference that Mayor Low be renominated by the convention is assailed on many sides to-day. Peculiarly enough it is attacked most persistently by men from whom the Mayor might reasonably expect the opposite, and this leads to the belief that by the time the convention is called Mayor Low will have decided that it would not be best for him to run.

GERMAN SUPPORT GONE.

The Staats-Zeitung, in to-day's issue, condemns editorially the renomination of the Mayor as an unwise move, although admitting that his administration has been the best New York has enjoyed for years. But the Mayor, according to Mr. Ridder's paper, has made many mistakes that have weakened him with the people.

Borough President Swanstrom, of Brooklyn, who, although a Democrat, is one of the Mayor's friends and advisers, is of the opinion that the German support has been estranged from the Fusion movement and that Mayor Low cannot win it back. Two years ago one of the sources of Mayor Low's strength was the German vote in the Eastern District of Brooklyn, which helped him to the extent of at least 20,000 ballots. Without this Eastern District vote the Mayor cannot win this year, in Mr. Swanstrom's opinion.

Because of last night's developments the whole political situation, it appears, may be revolutionized.

NO OBJECTION EXPECTED.

When the anti-Tammany conferrees met it was the expressed opinion among the leaders in advance that not a dissenting voice would be raised against the renomination of Mayor Low. City Chamberlain E. R. L. Gould said, confidently:

"There will be no opposition to Mayor Low. His indorsement unanimously is assured. Will the Greater New York Democracy indorse the Mayor? Haven't I been personally informed by Mr. Sheehan, and I do not doubt his word, that the organization is for any man we agree upon. Mr. Sheehan told me so with his own lips." R. Fulton Cutting, Chairman of the City Committee of the Citizens'

Union, expressed equal confidence in predicting the outcome of the con-"We have no reason to believe that Mayor Low will fail to receive the unqualified indorsement of the conferees," he said. When the Creater New York Democracy and the Kings County Democ racy refused to vote indorsing Mayor Low for renomination, it came like a blow to the other conferrees, particularly to the representative men in the Citizens' Union present who had received assurances from both organizations that each was for the choice for Mayor of the majority of the conferrees.

LOW'S FRIENDS HINT AT TREACHERY.

Mr. Cutting and Mr. Gould were plainly chagrined and keenly disappointed. It was then the talk of betrayal and treachery became rife, but the talk was conducted in guarded tones.

Many Fusion leaders to-day expressed themselves unequivocally against the renomination of Mayor Low. Superintendent of Buildings Walker said: "We are against Low from first to last. He is not the candidate to make a winning fight."

Ex-Senator Louis Munzinger said: "Low is the weakest candidate that the Fusionists could select. He does not fill the bill. His candidacy would be in the interest of the Republicans."

Leader Patrick H. Cody, of the First Assembly District, said: "Low can't get a single vote in my district. I wouldn't vote for him myself. He

Leader Martin Murphy, of the Seventh Assembly District, said: "My district cannot help Mayor Low in the event of his renomination. I am delighted with the action of our delegates taken to-night. We are opposed to the last to Mayor Low."

MAY OPPOSE HIM.

Superintendent of Highways Collins, of the Thirty-third Assembly District, said: "As a partisan body the Greater New York Democracy has the privilege of votins against Mayor Low, who is a Republican. When we moment. sided in his election we did so to defeat Tammany for a common purpose. Now that Tammany is defeated we can disagree on the candidate with the noon from Constantinople that the there is no possibility of a tie-up.

It is stated that of the 140 demands five lengths behind.

Some one cried "Fi

Leader Bush, of the Twenty-first Assembly District, said: 'The rank foreign representatives probably will do and file of the Greater New York organization is against the renomination the same. Mr. Leishman has vigorously of Mayor Low. He has appointed commissioners who have retained their urged the Sublime Porte to replace the Temmany office-holders in their departments. We cannot vote for the Mayor's renomination."

Leader Maher, of the Thirty-fourth Assembly District, said: "We will protest the renomination of Mayor Low to the last. We do not apprehend that the Executive Committee will turn us down."

Leader John T. Cronin, of the Twenty-second District, said: "It is our belief that Mayor Low will be defeated if he is renominated and seeks rean independent Democrat. We will be satisfied with no other candidate.'
